 - (for scholarship recipients only) the PDF receipt of registration with the INPS Separate Management Scheme (Gestione Separata INPS) as a quasi-subordinate worker (lavoratore parasubordinato), for the payment of social security contributions associated with the scholarship;
 - (for non-EU citizens residing abroad only) a copy of the residence permit or residence card;
 - (for candidates who declared that they would obtain the qualification required for admission by the enrolment date only) a self-certification of the degree awarded, pursuant to Articles 46 and 47 of Presidential Decree (D.P.R.) No. 445 of 28 December 2000.
5. Successful candidates holding a foreign academic qualification shall, no later than the commencement of programme activities and under penalty of exclusion from the PhD Programme, submit by e-mail (protocollo@unirc.it; scuoladottorato@unirc.it) their academic qualifications translated into Italian, legalised, and accompanied by the “Dichiarazione di Valore in loco” issued by the competent Italian diplomatic or consular authorities in the country where the qualification was awarded. As an alternative, candidates may submit, through the same transmission channels, a Statement of Comparability for the foreign university qualification issued by the Italian ENIC-NARIC centre (CIMEA), containing all information necessary for evaluation of the qualification (<https://www.cimea.it/pagina-riconoscimentoaccademico>). For qualifications awarded in a Member State of the European Union, submission of the Diploma Supplement shall be sufficient.

6. In order to benefit from reductions in tuition fees through the ESSE3 platform, PhD candidates may authorise the University to obtain their ISEE certification directly from the INPS database by selecting the relevant option during online enrolment or registration. PhD candidates who do not activate this option shall automatically be assigned to the highest income bracket. PhD candidates are also responsible for verifying that the ISEE certification issued by INPS complies with the provisions of the Study Manifesto for Academic Year 2026/2027 and, in particular, that it contains the wording: “This certification applies to benefits granted for the right to university education” and specifically refers to the tax code of the person concerned.
7. The second instalment, constituting the balance of the tuition contribution and calculated according to the ISEE income brackets established in the Study Manifesto for Academic Year 2026/2027, shall be paid by 30 June 2027.
8. Pursuant to Article 1, paragraph 262, of Law No. 232 of 11 December 2016, PhD candidates who are not beneficiaries of a scholarship are exempt from the payment of tuition fees and contributions payable to the Mediterranea University of Reggio Calabria, without prejudice to the obligation to pay the Regional Fee and the stamp duty, which must be paid by 30 November of each year.
9. The category of PhD candidates referred to in the preceding paragraph does not include candidates who, having been awarded a “scholarship-funded position”, accepted that position and subsequently renounced the PhD scholarship because, as employees, they obtained paid leave from their employer for the purpose of undertaking doctoral studies. Such candidates shall therefore be required to pay tuition fees and contributions in full.
10. Failure to enrol within the deadline referred to in paragraph 1 shall result in forfeiture of admission and shall trigger the advancement of the ranking list in favour of the first eligible candidate, according to the order of merit of the ranking.

Art. 7 – Scholarships

1. Scholarships shall be awarded to candidates placed in an eligible position in the ranking list, in accordance with the order established by the Selection Committee. In the event of equal merit, preference shall be given to the younger candidate.
2. PhD scholarships funded by University resources may not be combined with any other scholarship awarded on any basis, except for scholarships granted by national or foreign institutions intended to supplement the educational or research activities of PhD candidates, including through periods of study or research abroad.
3. Scholarships financed through European Union funds shall be subject to Article 191 of Regulation (EU, Euratom) 2018/1046 of 18 July 2018 concerning the “principle of non-cumulation and the prohibition of double funding”. Accordingly, such scholarships are incompatible with any other scholarship awarded on any basis.
4. Scholarship recipients are prohibited from earning income from any source that may result in the loss of their status as unemployed or not employed, as defined in Article 4(a) of Legislative Decree No. 181 of 21 April 2000, as amended by Legislative Decree No. 297 of 19 December 2002, with reference to the applicable annual income threshold. Compliance with such threshold must be maintained throughout the entire duration of the scholarship, failing which the recipient shall forfeit the scholarship and be required to reimburse all scholarship instalments received.
5. Pursuant to Article 28, paragraph 4, of the Regulations currently in force, the Board of Lecturers may authorise a PhD candidate, upon proposal of the Supervisor, to undertake remunerated activities that contribute to the acquisition of skills relevant to the educational objectives of the PhD Programme, subject to verification that such activities are compatible with the proper performance of the educational, teaching and research activities of the Programme. In any event, the annual gross income derived from such remunerated activities, where compatible with the scholarship, may not exceed the annual amount of the scholarship itself.
6. Without prejudice to the provisions of paragraphs 4 and 5, scholarships are incompatible (with forfeiture of the scholarship and the obligation to reimburse all instalments received) with:
 - a. employment, including fixed-term employment, except where the scholarship recipient has been granted unpaid leave by the employer;

- b. industrial or commercial activities;
 - c. contracts entered into with the University on any basis, with the exception of contracts relating to tutoring activities;
 - d. any other activity requiring the opening of a VAT registration number (Partita IVA).
7. Scholarships funded by other Universities or by public or private bodies may be linked to the implementation of specific research programmes where so provided for in the relevant agreement. Failure to comply with the obligations established in such agreement shall result in forfeiture of the scholarship and the consequent obligation to reimburse all scholarship instalments received.
 8. Payment of the scholarship is conditional upon actual attendance and the effective performance of study and research activities. Scholarships are paid monthly in arrears, namely during the month following the month of attendance to which the payment relates.
 9. Scholarships have a minimum duration of three years and are renewed annually, provided that the PhD candidate has successfully completed the programme of activities required for the preceding year, as verified in accordance with the procedures established by the Board of Lecturers. The scholarship shall continue to be paid if the annual assessment is successfully passed. Where a PhD candidate is not positively evaluated for the renewal of the scholarship, or renounces the scholarship, the unused funds shall remain available to the University for the same purposes.
 10. The annual amount of the scholarship for attendance on PhD Programmes is currently fixed, pursuant to Ministerial Decree No. 247 of 23 February 2022, at € 16.243,00 gross of the social security contributions payable by the recipient. This amount may be increased by up to 50% for a total period not exceeding twelve (12) months, where such increase is provided for in the admission call and where the PhD candidate is authorised by the Board of Lecturers to carry out research activities abroad.
 11. In addition to the scholarship and within the limits of the financial resources available in the University budget, each PhD candidate shall be provided with a budget for research activities in Italy and abroad, commensurate with the type of PhD Programme and in any event not less than 10% of the amount of the scholarship.
 12. Individuals who have already benefited from a PhD scholarship, even for only one year or part thereof, may not benefit from a second PhD scholarship.

Art. 8 – Obligations

1. Admission to a PhD Programme entails an exclusive and full-time commitment. Public employees admitted to a PhD Programme may benefit, for the normal duration of the Programme, from the leave of absence provided for under collective bargaining agreements or, where employed under public-law arrangements, from special study leave, subject to the requirements of the administration, pursuant to Article 2 of Law No. 476 of 13 August 1984, with or without remuneration and, unless expressly waived, only if they are enrolling in a PhD Programme for the first time, irrespective of the disciplinary field concerned.
2. PhD candidates, whether scholarship recipients or not, are required to attend all teaching, training, and research activities envisaged by the PhD Programme for its entire duration, in accordance with the procedures and timetable established by the Board of Lecturers. Within that period, they must acquire all credits required under the study plan adopted by the Board of Lecturers. A PhD candidate may not be simultaneously enrolled in another PhD Programme.
3. At the end of each year of the Programme, PhD candidates shall submit a detailed report on the educational and research activities carried out. On the basis of such report, the Board of Lecturers shall verify the effective acquisition of the credits required under the study plan, express a merit assessment, and determine admission to the subsequent year of the Programme.
4. At the end of the third year of the Programme, PhD candidates shall submit a detailed report on the educational and research activities carried out throughout the three-year period, together with a draft of the doctoral thesis. On the basis thereof, the Board of Lecturers shall verify the effective acquisition of the credits required under the study plan, express a merit assessment, and authorise submission of the thesis to the External Evaluators.
5. An insufficient number of credits earned and/or an unfavourable assessment by the Board of Lecturers in relation to progression to the subsequent year, as well as a negative assessment by the Final Examination Committee for the award of the degree, shall result in the loss of PhD candidate status and/or the failure to obtain the PhD degree, together with the obligation to reimburse the scholarship instalments received during the current academic year.

6. PhD candidates in receipt of a scholarship shall be required, for each year of attendance, to pay the relevant fees and contributions as follows:

- by 30 November of each year, the first instalment in the amount of € 281,29 (€ 265,29 as the first tuition contribution instalment plus € 16,00 as virtual stamp duty), together with the Regional Fee for the Right to Education;
- by 30 June of each year, the second instalment, which may be recalculated according to the applicable ISEE (Equivalent Economic Situation Indicator) income bracket in accordance with the amounts established by Article 4, paragraph 1, Table B, of the University Regulations on Student Contributions.

Upon enrolment or online registration, PhD candidates shall authorise the University, through the ESSE3 platform and by selecting the relevant checkbox in their personal area, to access and retrieve their ISEE data directly from the INPS database. Candidates who do not activate this option shall automatically be assigned to the highest income bracket. PhD candidates are also required to verify through the ESSE3 platform that the ISEE certification has the status "COMPLIANT" and is in the specific form required for university purposes, containing the wording: "applicable to benefits granted for the right to university education" ("si applica alle prestazioni agevolate per il diritto allo studio universitario") with specific reference to their own Tax Identification Number (Codice Fiscale).

Art. 9 – Industrial Property Rights

1. Pursuant to Article 65 of the Italian Industrial Property Code (Codice della Proprietà Industriale), a PhD candidate who develops an invention in the course of the PhD Programme shall notify the University of the subject matter of the invention. Within six months of receipt of such notification, the University shall expressly indicate whether or not it intends to file a patent application. In the event of inaction or lack of interest on the part of the University within the prescribed period, the PhD candidate may independently file a patent application in their own name.
2. Without prejudice to the inventor's right to be acknowledged as the author of the invention, any proceeds arising from the exploitation of patentable results, patents, and know-how shall, after deduction of the costs and expenses incurred for the enhancement and legal protection of the inventions subject to economic exploitation, be distributed in accordance with the University Regulations on Patents and Technology Transfer (Regolamento d'Ateneo in materia di brevetti e trasferimento tecnologico) (Rectoral Decree No. 151 of 9 May 2008), as follows:
 - 50% to the University;
 - 50% to the inventor.
3. In the case of sponsored research, the rights arising from inventions developed in the course of research and study activities funded, in whole or in part, by third parties and/or enterprises shall be allocated between the University and the funding entity in accordance with the provisions of the relevant agreements.
4. For all matters not expressly governed herein, reference shall be made to the University Regulations on Patents and Technology Transfer (Regolamento d'Ateneo in materia di brevetti e trasferimento tecnologico) and to the applicable legislation governing industrial property rights.

Art. 10 – Award of the Degree

1. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy, which may be abbreviated as "Dott.Ric." or "Ph.D.", shall be awarded in accordance with the provisions of Article 25 of the Regulations.

Art. 11 – Processing of Personal Data

1. In implementation of Legislative Decree No. 196/2003 ("Personal Data Protection Code"), the Mediterranea University of Reggio Calabria undertakes to use the personal data provided by candidates exclusively for the purposes of administering the selection procedures and for institutional purposes. Participation in the competition implies, in compliance with the principles laid down in the aforementioned legislation, the candidate's tacit consent to the publication of their personal data on the website of the Mediterranea University of Reggio Calabria.

Art. 12 - Publication and Publicity

1. This Call and all related administrative acts shall be published on the Online Notice Board of the Mediterranea University of Reggio Calabria and in the Transparent Administration section of the University website.
2. The schedule of the admission examinations, the ranking lists, any amendments thereto and, in general, all communications to candidates relating to this Call shall be made available exclusively through publication at the following address: <https://www.unirc.it/ricerca/dottorato-di-ricerca/futuri-dottorandi> . Such publication shall constitute official notification to all interested parties for all legal purposes. No other form of notice shall be provided by the University.
3. This Call shall also be published on the European Union institutional portal “Euraxess” and on the website of the Ministry of University and Research.

Art. 13 – Final Provision

1. For all matters not expressly governed by this Call, reference shall be made to Ministerial Decree No. 226/2021, the Regulations, and the national legislation in force concerning doctoral programmes.
